

Abstract

Reduced-halogen-content flame-retardant mixtures for producing low-emission flexible polyurethane foams

The invention relates to mixtures composed of hydroxyalkyl phosphonates and chlorinated phosphoric esters, to their use, and to a process for their preparation.